DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hooven et al.

(U.S. Patent 5,433,721 cited by applicant).

Hooven et al. disclose an electromechanical driver, flexible shaft, and surgical attachment assembly (see for example Figures 13-16). The flexible shaft includes a flexible sheath having a first end and second end, and at least one flexible torque member and at least one electrical connection wire (see col. 7, line 33, through col. 10, line 2). The flexible torque member is coupable to a surgical attachment, i.e. stapler, at one end and to a drive element at a second end (see Figures 13-16 and col. 7, lines 33, through col. 10, line 2). The surgical attachment, i.e. stapler, has at least one moveable element, a sensor mechanism, and transmitter and receiver (see col. 7, lines 33, through col. 10, line 2). The driver element includes a motor and microprocessor with display including lights.

Applicant is reminded that an anticipation under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) or 102(e) is established when a single prior art reference discloses, either expressly or under principles of inherency, each and every element of a claimed invention. RCA Corp. v. Applied Digital Data System, Inc., 730 F.2d 1440, 221 USPQ 385 (Fed. Cir. 1984). Furthermore, it is well settled that the law of anticipation does not required that the reference teach what appellant is teaching or has disclosed, but only that the claims on appeal "read on" something disclosed in the reference, i.e. all limitation of the claims are found in the reference. Kalman v. Kimberly Clark Corp., 713 F.2d 760, 218 USPQ 781 (Fed. Cir. 1083). Moreover, it is not necessary for the applied reference to expressly disclose or describe a particular element or limitation of a rejected claim word for word as in the rejected claim so long as the reference inherently discloses that element or limitation. Standard Havens Products Inc. v. Gencor Industries Inc., 953 F.2d 1360, 21 USPQ 2d. 1321 (Fed. Cir. 1991).
